Autism Empowerment was founded in June 2011 by Karen and John Krejcha who are parents to sons on the Autism Spectrum and has a board of directors that all have a direct connection by either being on the Spectrum or closely related to somebody on the Autism Spectrum.

Autism Empowerment is dedicated to enriching and empowering the lives of individuals and families impacted by Autism, Asperger Syndrome, ASDs and related co-existing conditions. We offer free and low cost resources, training, panel presentations, support and special events in-person and online. We collaborate with agencies, educators, caregivers and other non-profits. By promoting acceptance, inclusion, improving life skills and encouraging self-advocacy and empowerment, we seek to support and inspire those on the autism spectrum to reach their highest potential.

Autism Empowerment is the only national Autism Organization that has an Autism and Scouting Program dedicated to making the lives of scouts better by providing tools and training to unit leaders around the world.
